

New Jersey Immunization Network

protecting Health
For Life

A community baby shower is to celebrate and support parents-to-be in communities across New Jersey by providing them with essential resources, information, and a supportive network as they prepare for the arrival of their baby. It aims to empower parents, promote health and well-being, foster connections among community members, and create a positive and nurturing environment for parents and their families. A community baby shower serves as a way to show love, care, and solidarity with expecting parents, ensuring they feel celebrated and supported during this special time in their lives. Attendees will receive multilingual educational materials and access to social services and other resources that are available to them in their communities. Additionally, guests will receive food and refreshments, giveaway items, and a chance to win large raffle prizes. Our community baby showers are a celebration of life, an opportunity for learning, and a chance to bring together communities as we help to prepare new parents for the coming of their child.
